The thoughtful thunder through the thickest thorns,
The thirsty thieves thrust thistles through the storms.
The thundering thrushes thrill the thirsty throng,
The thousand thumping thoughts throw thorns along.

The thin threads through the thickets twist and sway,
The thorny thrones through thermal throbs decay.
The thriving thinkers thank the thoughtful theme,
The throaty thunders throb through every dream.

The theatrical thieves throw thirty thickened things,
The thrashing thunder thrills the trembling kings.
The thermal thirst through thirsty throats still grows,
The thoughtful thistle through the theatre flows.